Rise To Riches Skill

Aurora provides skill games that can appear to be a casino-style Class III game or they can depart in appearance very much from that of a Class III game – your choice. The algorithm allows the removal of the so-called "skill factor" from a game and the operator is thus guaranteed a profit even if a very skillful player is playing. There is a patent applied for and under examination on this particular method of skill game play.

We have several games available for demonstration that use our skill game algorithm. On two of them, the particular skill tested is reaction time, though a slower reaction time can be offset somewhat by familiarity with the game. On the other game the skills tested are familiarity with a poker hand and ability to remember card faces. Many other skill games appealing to players can be developed using the concepts demonstrated, but they will all be games that can be completed successfully by a person of average ability in the skill tested and the operator of the games will be guaranteed a profit.
